According to rules of the Japanese system, Miss Berger yielded for a moment to her op-ponent. When his hold was relaxed she struck him in the face and scrambled to her feet. As the man tried to seize her again she caught hold of his left arm and kicked his feet from under him. This enabled her to escape and she ran down the street into a peliceman's

The decision has been expected for some weeks.

It had been confidently expected that after a recess of two weeks the result of the court's deliberations in these important cases would be announced yesterday. It can only be surmised that the delay is due to the necessity of unusual care in the preparation of the court. It is also possibly to pinion of the court. It is also possible that there may be such fundamental difference of opinion among the members of the court as to render it difficult to reach a conclusion.

The Growth of Redwood.

Few people realize the rapidty of growth of the coast redwood trees of most rapid growing of our native trees, To illustrate this point, the United States forest service will exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon Pacific exposition in Seattle this summer, sections from a young redwood sprout, together with explanatory diagrams showing its rate of growth in diameter, height and volume. ree, which was cut from the Dupont Powder Works' tract near Santa Cruz, is over 80 inches in circumference at the stump, almost 125 feet in height, and is only 47 years of age. These dinensions indicate a growth of over 1 inch in diameter per year, and an annual growth of almost 2 7-10 feet in height. Trees of an even more rapid growth were seen in the Big river country of Mendocino county, California, where redwood sprouts over 30 inches in diameter on the stump and 125 to 100 feet in height, were found growing on land cut over 40 to 45 years ago, Redwood of sprouts thus rival in their rate of growth the much lauded encalyptus.
